

Response

The way of the sin-ful dis-ap-pears to dust, but the road of the right-eous is in the hand of God.

O how blessed are they that never have walked in the influence of the ungodly, nor have followed the lure of sin in the world and not taken their seat with the scornful.

So delight in his law, by day and by night as the river of life to the thirsty;
as a tree that bears fruit, whose leaves wither not,
so your life will be filled with its bounty.

Like the litter which blows down the street in the wind
so the godless are counted as nothing:
at the judgement of all, unable to stand while the righteous inherit God's blessing.